ABB helps you operate your oil and gas business the way you want

The demands put on the Oil and Gas Industry are the challenges that ABB meets every day, around the globe. As the world's leading automation supplier to the Oil and Gas Industry, ABB understands your challenges, whether in the field, on a platform, at the terminal, along the pipeline, in the refinery, or in the boardroom.

Our products, services, and solutions help you optimize operations, eliminate losses, improve the quality and flow of information, and meet safety and environmental regulations. Then we empower boardrooms with the tools to measure, improve, and consolidate profits.

We keep oil and gas moving from the wellhead to the customer.

Control... safety... SCADA... advanced control... optimization... analytical instruments... precision measurement equipment... electrical systems... integrated telecommunications... security devices and systems... simulators... information management - we offer the best of our own and third-party products and applications for your entire supply chain, throughout your project's lifecycle.

From pre-project consultations through project execution and on to full plant maintenance, from a single sensor to automated intelligent enterprise management, ABB is the Oil and Gas Industry's partner of choice.

Our mission is to turn our experience into innovative solutions for the 21st century.
